

A POSSIBLE MATCH.

Stevens Is Willing to Meet M. J. Dwyer Here.

He Prefers Cornish Style.

He Will Also Wrestle for Any Sum Dwyer Puts Up—Another Man Heard From.

There is a possibility of a wrestling match taking place in this city next Saturday evening and which would undoubtedly be very largely attended, for there are large numbers of enthusiastic sportsmen here who would be glad to witness a good Cornish wrestling match. Stevens, of Osceola, whom Dwyer says he is very anxious to meet, will give Dwyer an opportunity to arrange a match before he (Dwyer) leaves the Upper Peninsula. Stevens has written Dwyer a letter in which he offers to meet the professor at the Opera House in this city next Saturday evening in a match for any amount Dwyer wants to back his abilities with. He is also willing to let Dwyer arrange some of the details, but is very anxious to meet him.

Of course, Stevens will not wrestle any style but the Cornish, as he never had training in any other style. Dwyer, in his challenge to Stevens, did not say anything about the style of wrestling and, as he knew Stevens was not acquainted with any other style, it is reasonable to suppose that he is willing to make a match in that style. At any rate, Dwyer will not have to leave the Upper Peninsula without having had an opportunity to meet Stevens if he wants it, as he says he does.

The News has received a letter from a man signing himself "A Cornishman," in which he says: "Seeing that M. J. Dwyer wants to wrestle Cornish style, I will wrestle him, best three in five, and if he wins the first fall I will give him $10. My weight is 150 pounds." Where can "A Cornishman" be addressed?

Mrs. MacNaughton's Funeral.

The remains of the late Mrs. A. MacNaughton arrived here Saturday afternoon from Thomasville, Georgia, accompanied by Miss Kathryn MacNaughton, who was with the deceased at the time of her death, and Mr. J. P. North, who was in Chicago at the time, but who went south and returned with the remains. Mr. and Mrs. James MacNaughton, of Iron Mountain, who met the sad party at Chicago, also came up with them. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon, services being at the Calumet Hotel, at which Rev. Daniel Stalker, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated. The remains were taken to Houghton by special train over the Mineral Range railroad and interred in Forest Hill cemetery. A large concourse of friends and relatives of the deceased attended the funeral and paid the last respects to the departed. The pall bearers were: Messrs. John Duncan, J. N. Cox, James Ramsay, J. S. Morrison, F. B. Lyon and J. H. Lathrop.

"The Fatal Glove."

Finding that so many of the News readers were so much interested in the serial of "The Fatal Glove," which was appearing in the supplement, which was lately issued on Saturdays with the News, the editor, not wishing to disappoint his readers, while in Chicago has made arrangements to continue the supplement until the "Fatal Glove" is completed and is sorry he should have overlooked the fact that the serial was still appearing when he determined to stop the supplement; intending that expense to go partially toward the extra expense of the increased size of the News.

There was a very large attendance at the Park ice rink last Saturday evening. The Fifth Infantry band was present and rendered some of their choicest selections for skating and dancing. Notwithstanding the fact that the thermometer has been about at the freezing point for the past few days, the ice was not in first-class condition and quite a number danced during the evening. The manager promises much better ice if the weather continues cold. The band will be in attendance Wednesday and Saturday evenings of this week as usual and probably on Christmas night also.

The address by Attorney A. T. Streeter at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting at the Opera House yesterday afternoon on the subject "The Necessity of Education to Real Success in Life," was one in which all were deeply interested and especially the young men who were in attendance. His thoughts were well put and the address throughout was one of unusual interest. The Christmas carol chorus, consisting of a large number of voices and several musical instruments, rendered several selections in a very pleasant manner.
